ECONOMICS AND FINANCE

Brunel University London's on-campus pathway provider provides a foundation and first year degree in Economics and Finance for students who may not qualify for direct entry to a degree programme and seek a supportive learning environment.

Study Economics and Finance at Brunel

What is Economics and Finance at Brunel? Far from just analysing graphs, looking into statistics and predicting growth, our programmes integrate the different concepts of economics, finance and accounting which will inspire you to pursue your interests and help you understand where your strengths and potential future may lie.

You'll be supported and surrounded by academics who are internationally respected experts in their field and our teaching and learning activities are based on their cutting edge research, meaning you'll benefit first hand from their work.

Careers and your future

Our aim is to teach you 'employable knowledge', which can be applied to real-world situations giving you the skills you need to find the right role after you graduate. Therefore, you'll be well prepared for work, especially if you undertake a work placement. Securing economics and finance degree jobs is highly competitive so we'll support you to gain a strong foundation in the skills employers are looking for. We offer opportunities within the Department of Economics and Finance as well as through the University's Professional Development Centre (PDC) to help you build skills and experience.

Our graduates are employed in many fields, with roles at NatWest (Financing Futures), PricewaterhouseCoopers and KPMG, the Treasury and Bank of England. Within industry, graduates are working at businesses such as BP, Xerox and Marks and Spencer.
